polarizers (crossed nicols) were used to show specific mineral grains. Under crossed nicols, porosity appears black in color.

The following bar scales can be used to estimate grain and pore sizes:

High-magnification photos: 0.1 mm

Low-magnification photos: 0.5 mm